1986 Log Dedication

This year on the 80th Anniversary weekend, they came to Runoia by the dozens - women, young and not so young - and, trailing in their wake, husbands, boyfriends, babies, grandchildren or pictures thereof. Precious pieces of the lives they've led since their summers here. They came to share with one another - share their common pasts, their diverse presents, amid tears and laughter and hugs that spanned years and tens of years.

Many who couldn't come phoned, wrote or telegraphed their love and pride in this leafy crescent which has, at one time or another, embraced them all. Gutsy, gay women, they not only reached out to touch their youth, but to measure the distance traveled since their camp days - a distance that has in no way diluted the deep affection that binds them all.

Their memories of Runoia are not frozen relics, stored on some high, dusty shelf of the past; these women have taken the golden threads spun during their summers here and actively woven them throughout the fabrics of their lives: remembering all the words to "Out on the Blue Waves" some night while sitting around the kitchen table - an old camp story, burnished by countless re-tellings filling the hungry ears of children, then grandchildren - the Christmas cards that never fail to punctuate five, ten, even forty years of friendship - and of course the gathering together, the celebration, as in this eightieth year, of the timeless spirit that infuses them all - Runoia's spirit.

It is, therefore, to the bearers of this spirit - the ever young Runoia girls of every age - whose pasts create an immeasurably richer present for the girls here today - that this 1986 Log is lovingly dedicated:

A Trip to Long Lake

At Camp Runoia the counselors took a trip to Long Lake. Auns the trip, they wore their Coates. They Hedeled towards Oak but had to Alter their course because it began to rain and they didn't have any Borellas. There was also a strong wind Bleauing and they didn't think that was too Keene. So they Ruddled their canoes onto Drukker's Island. They headed Eklund but they were only Hathaway to their spot when they spied a Gliddening Diamond on a Stone.

Kimberly Francoeur and Irwin de L'Epine were the first to spot it.

Kimberly shouted, "It's Mynes!"

But Irwin yelled, "Ulman, Alfond it first!"

Betty told them not to fight about it but they would return it to the Meyer and the Justice of the Peace the next day.

"Now," Betty said. "Put up your tents. Prodo!"

They carried the trip boxes to their site, but got Ahernia from doing that. Then they dived into the water with such Rigel grace that they looked like Jacques Croteau.

When their stomachs started growling, Betty said, "It Sims that they are getting hungry because they are not in very good Huber."

Griffin said, "I'm so hungry I could eat Katzen dogs. Too bad we only have Kimball's chicken Roth and corn on the Cobb."

"Don't shake up the coke, Griffin, it might Fiset over," Betty warned. "And don't dump the soap in the water, put it Herrera there."

A candle glowed brightly and Wax was on Thompson

it. They pulled out their portable television set to watch "Spencer for Hire." But, all that was on was an old Mickey Rooney movie, Milligan's Island and a commercial with Morris the cat. They saw the Wizard of Oz and started singing, "Vostrovsky the wizard, the wonderful wizard of Oz."

One of the girls had to go to the bathroom.

Betty said, "Take a Wisner the tree." They yelled with disgust.

But Betty said, "Can't you Copeland that?" So she Crumpled up the toilet paper and Garyed it into the woods.

Then they all settled down to sleep but they all Russelled because a bird was Pecking on a tree nearby.

When they woke up they all had breakfast. Rose wanted cereal. Witherspoon she ate her Kellogg's Raisin Bryant, but choked, so they had to do the Hymanson maneuver.

"De Noailles you choked?" they all asked. She nodded.

"Sutel us why!" they exclaimed.

"Because I saw a boat of men go by."

Sarah Rodrigue, who had been sleeping said, "Rose, Philman in."

Just then, they heard someone yell, "Let's Gomez to Pine Island." Instead they went to Drukker's Island.

Their leader, Batch Smith and their Ackerman, Edwards Zarfos, anchored the boat. At first they didn't see anyone so they thought it was another Robinson Crusoe adventure.

Betty and the girls welcomed them onto the island. Batch looked like a Young John Kennedy. They started talking and Batch introduced himself and his MacMichael

The girls served them Froidure's, which was Jone's sausage.

That night, the men went back to Pine Island, stealing the girls Johnson and Johnson baby shampoo, and the diamond, and their peanut butter Mudge. Batch Smith said goodbye and hugged Rose goodbye. Batchelder tight and left.

She said, "He's such a Dudley man, and they were all such Chalmers."

The next morning, they were awakened by a rooster yelling, "Cox-a-doodle-doo." They then noticed things were missing.

"Myers shampoo is gone," some yelled.

They Rohrback to Runoia. As they were turning into the cove, they turned White as a sheet because they spotted the men.

Serano own, Betty rowed off but was soon out of breath. She panted, "This is Harner than I thought."

They saw her coming and said, "Hoppman, let's hurry, she's on the loose." But Betty was too quick for them, because she soon caught up with them and threw a Guertin over Batch and Michael's heads.

De Beauce, "Who turned off the lights?"

Betty said, "Give us back our stuff!"

They said, "OK, it was only worth Nicholson dimes anyway."

They headed Berland, towards camp to Stieglitz things out. But they couldn't so they called in Detectives Thatcher, Duarte and Banos de Goldschmidt.

The men were surrounded so the detectives let them go free, but they were never to go back to Pine Island.

"How where will we stay?" they asked.

"Here with us," Betty said. "Meyerhoff is your hoff."

They gave her back her Guertin, unfortunately it had a rip in it. But Betty said, "I'll fix it with my Wissinger sewing machine."

Well, as the saying goes: Braswell that ends well.

The CIT's

First Impressions

First Impressions of Camp

When I just arrived here, I thought it was a very beautiful place. I saw the tennis courts and I was excited because I love tennis. Then I went to my shack and I met my roommate and my counselors. They are all great and very nice! Then camp started! I mean I started to make friends and do all sorts of sports. I also found out that there were cabin chores to do every day.

I think camp is good because you learn to make friends and have fun.

Eleonore Froidure

I think Runoia is a great camp because the people here are so friendly and they do not leave people out. I also think the food is great! Runoia is like one big family to me.

Susan Harner

I was so nervous because I did not know anyone here. Tami took me to my shack. When I walked in it was so noisy because people were running around. Then Tami took me to the room where I would stay. The next day my roommate showed me around and I began to make lots of friends.

Dear Family,

The first day of camp dawned gorgeous and stayed that way until the sun sank into a vermilion sky.

Early afternoon brought the first trickle of campers, but that trickle soon swelled into a steady stream that continued throughout the afternoon and evening. While blue Runoia vans fanned out to collect the airborne troops hailing from as far away as France, Mexico, Columbia, California and Florida - our weary parents deposited their "precious cargo" at the health cabin for their medical check-ins and then strolled down to the lake to stretch their legs and do a little wistful sighing - several seemed ready to stay around for a month or two themselves.

By suppertime the yearly miracle had occurred - shacks empty and bare in the morning had become decidedly "lived-in" - festooned with pictures, posters and an endlessly varied menage of stuffed animals. In spite of having traveled all day, the campers managed to inhale the traditional first-night spaghetti dinner and meet out on the kickball field for evening program - which was, however, interrupted by the invasion of the fabled, forty-legged Counselor Caterpillar - sighted only once before in eighty years. The creature - friendly but somewhat off-key - transformed itself by turns into a line of singing counselors and then into a pair of Runoia butterflies - astounding Betty took advantage of the tide of excitement to initiate a human pretzel competition capped by a rousing game of Duck-Duck-Goose!!

Though our last contingent didn't roll in until nearly midnight, for the most part, by senior taps, all campers were tucked in - "old" girls and "new" girls united under Runoia pines - beginning together the journey through what promises to be a glorious summer.

Sunday was a lovely day and we visited all the activities and ended the day with a combination of Sunday Service and Vespers at the beach presented by the staff. The theme was Harmony which is the meaning of Runoia.

Love to all,

Aionur

Dear Families,

Monday we were awakened by cool and windy weather. Two trips to Oak Island changed their itinerary to Fairy Ring while back in camp we enjoyed a treasure hunt - from one end of camp to the other treasures were sought out through very cleverly written clues. We also participated on a request from the State Police in an Evacuation exercise and we passed with flying colors.

Sunshine blessed us on Tuesday and we enjoyed its warmth. Over nights to Oak went out and luckily finished their breakfast and broke camp before the rain drops arrived for their paddle home. A Rainy Day Program was great with each shack presenting Skits about television shows. Our Evening Program was a 'Sing-Off'. How many songs do you know with the word love mentioned? We certainly know many, as we never ran out for 45 minutes! Cool weather continued on Thursday and the great event for 2nd and 3rd shacks was to climb Mt. Phillip at the end of our lake. What a good view we had of Great Pond and the rock caves at the top were lots of fun. The rest of camp worked on their productions for the 80th Celebration which will be July 12th and 13th.

If you are planning on visiting camp during that week-end please note: You are invited to Saturday night dinner which will start around 4:30 PM followed by the 80th Production and a special camp-fire. On Sunday there will be a Sunday Service conducted by the Alumnae with music provided by our Camp Choir who will also be singing on July 27th in the Union Church in Belgrade Lakes. CALL camp to make dinner reservations by WEDNESDAY JULY 9th. NO ONE WILL BE ALLOWED OUT OF CAMP FRIDAY, SATURDAY OR SUNDAY. WE APPRECIATE YOUR NOT ASKING FOR SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

Our Fourth of July Celebration organized by the CITs was excellent. The entire camp was divided into American and British Teams. The many games we played were clever and entertaining. The American Teams were victorious in this special year of 1986, the 100th Anniversary of the Statue of Liberty a gift of the French people to the people of the United States. How nice it is for us to have at camp a small French campers helping us to continue our association with the French nation.

We also elected Blue/White Captains on the Fourth. For the Blues, Anna Sims is Senior Captain and Cecilia Stieglitz is Junior Captain. For the Whites, Kriasy Auns is Senior Captain and Caroline Katzen is Junior Captain. Congratulations are in order to all four girls.

Our busy day ended with a campfire at the beach complete with marshmallows and sparklers. Oh, we forgot to mention our delicious turkey dinner at noontime with traditional flag decked strawberry shortcake!

Our days are busy and we will be in touch next week.

Love,

Aionur

July 13, 1986

Dear Family,

Another week has flown by and soon we will sadly be saying goodbye to our first month campers and then welcoming our new campers.

So much has happened this week. The weather has been beautiful and we've taken advantage of it by sending out two Long Lake Trips. A group of Juniors enjoyed an overnight at Fairy Ring, while still others went to the Maine coast to spend a day at Popham Beach. Inspection awards for the first part of camp were given to Third Shack and Seventh Shack. Third took a lunch to Blueberry Hill and a treat at the Dairy Queen. Seventh took a supper to cook at Popham and returned home to watch a Video.

The counselors have kept us busy with incredible evening programs, such as a consequences game which followed a silent supper. This was brought to us by our Juniors. The ever popular Capture the Flag, a counselor camper soccer game and Friday night we enjoyed a pair party which Heather hosted. We saw such pairs as a pair of pearls, a nun and priest, Betty and Phil (alias), farmer and cow and Ken and Barbie.

The climax of the week was our Eightieth year Celebration. We had the pleasure of welcoming many alumnae back to camp. Festivities included a chicken and lobster feast to which Phil invited 145 lobsters. Alumnae enjoyed watching activities, talking to each other, renewing old acquaintances and organizing an Alumnae Association. A Grand Production was performed by the campers and staff, commemorating the past 80 years of Runoia camping. It was extremely well done and enjoyed by all. Jennifer Johnson is to be applauded for her direction of this production. Sunday Service was prepared and presented by the Alumnae with the music provided by our camp choir. It was inspirational and provides us with a challenge to attain during the next few weeks. Harmony is indeed the base of our camp life.

Betty and Phil presented camp with two portraits. One of Lucy H. Weiser and one yet to be finished, of Marian Johnson. A group of former campers presented camp with a picture of the old type truck in which they took all their trips with canoes stored to the sides and top, with a comment that old memories are never forgotten.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

ANNIVERSARY

Dear Family,

It seems impossible that we are well beyond the half way mark of our camp season. Your daughters have made our days bright and sunny despite rather unique weather. We've had liquid sunshine in varying degrees - cool weather, but not like the summer of 1816 when seven inches of snow fell in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont! - A great deal of wind out of the Northwest and some very clear and sunny Maine days.

Our swimming program may be somewhat behind schedule but we are trying hard to catch up when the temperatures are warm and the lake is calm. This week has again been a busy one following our exciting Alumnae week-end. A Rangely canoe trip took off Monday with an exchange trip leaving on Wednesday. Each enjoyed good food, canoeing and working on campcraft skills. The Junior Oak Island Trips encountered wind and the first trip had a real adventure, - lunch delivered by motor boat and a trip home later on while the second trip arrived via motor launch. Along with campcraft skills we are also hand carving useful utensils, letter openers, eating utensils and salad servers. Next year it may be salad bowls! Teddy bears and egg carton game boards are appearing from arts and crafts. The bull-eye clubs in Archery and Riflery are increasing as are the Yeomans, Bowmans, Pro-Marksman and Marksman. Off to the beach for some and Strawberry picking for others (they were so very delicious and sweet! Thanks to 2nd shack!) filled out our week.

Thursday was both a sad day and a happy day. We said good-bye to our first half season campers and hello to our second half season campers. We also joined the rest of the camps across the country by lighting our campfire in celebration of 125 years of Organized Camping which was begun by Dr. Frederick Gunn of The Gunnery who took his boys from Washington Connecticut to Milford Connecticut on the first recorded overnight hiking expedition during their summer study program in 1861.

Our choir is getting ready for our Service in the Union Church in Belgrade Lakes next Sunday. The JMG's are preparing for Testing Camp and the Blues and Whites are discovering hidden talent as they enter into team sports and the riders are preparing to show off their skills in a few weeks.

We are indeed busy, well fed and a pretty happy bunch enjoying our friends and learning new skills. Our Evening programs included an exciting relay race and the never to be forgotten Laundry Bag Game!

A transportation sheet is enclosed. IF it is NOT correct, let Betty know right away or I just may stay right here all winter!

Please DO NOT SEND ANY MORE PACKAGES!!!!!! The Mailman says it is a real hassle and besides I don't have room to bring everything home. Also please tell Aunt Edna and Grandma not to send care packages. Only the ants get to eat them!!!!!!

Until next week,

Aionur

Dear Family,

The week started out fabulous! Monday we had warm sunny weather; Tuesday was declared as trip day and the whole camp went somewhere. Second shack spent the day at Christmas Cove at Martha Goodyear Mason's home and had a chance to spend some time with Kiki Drukker who was a first month camper; while third shack went to the Perkins' Farm and observed how a dairy farm is operated. It was a day of canoeing for fourth shack in the war canoe. Senior end was split up into thirds, one third went on an all day sail, another went on an all day canoe and the last went to the beach for the day. Needless to say everyone said they had a great time. Some people insisted they would not burn under the hot sun and did not heed the warnings of 'put your shirts on!'.

The middle of the week brought warm sunshine and gentle breezes. A third Rangely Trip left after breakfast while the rest of camp resumed regular activities, including new majors.

Thursday turned out to be hot and humid. Activities went on as usual with no one complaining about getting into the lake. Evening program was done by Eric Cobb. It was a 'fifties' night, complete with costume contest and an elimination dance. Boy, if our parents could have seen us then! Weatherwise, Friday turned out to be a duplicate of Thursday, hot and muggy. Activities were shorter than usual but we didn't mind.

Saturday was hazy, hot and very sticky. We started off with Blue-White softball and kickball games with the Whites taking the wins in both. Bets had been placed on when we might get a storm and the 2 PM time was the closest to the 3 PM storm that really hit! We were all at the lake and had the chance to watch the first big storm of the season come across the lake. The lightening was like fireworks! and the wind blew the rain across the top of the lake. We just didn't expect the storm or storms to keep coming back until well into the night. We never lost our electric in camp, but we did learn once again how much we depend on water!. We ~~do~~ have it back today, but it is still raining. Phil says we have had over six inches since this all started yesterday. We'd be happy to send some of it to the southern states who need rain. Hip boots are in order!

Next week will again be a busy one and maybe it will not go quite as fast as this one has.

Our love,

Aionur

August 3, 1986

Dear Family,

This being the penultimate week of camp, we're sorry to report that the weather has been somewhat inclement. However, spirits have not been low and many lively events have taken place.

Tuesday being 'trip day', all Juniors were out of camp. Second shack enjoyed a 3 day excursion to Jonesport on the coast. Although it rained, they had a chance to dig clams which they steamed and ate! - what a delicacy! Finding the clams though did lead to a non too delicate seaweed! Night! The trip was a success and everyone had fun. Similarly, but without the seaweed, 3rd shack explored Fort Knox with their flashlights and 4th shack went to Pemaquid Point, where they climbed the rocks and entered the lighthouse which is a museum.

The Seniors that day had the run of the camp (not literally), but they did out run the counselors and CWT team at an enthusiastic softball game. And a few campers also swam 1/4 miles by completing 110 laps in the swimming lanes.

We had Rainy Day Programmes a good part of the week, too numerous to mention them all, but included: dressing up as horrific monsters in the candle-lit lodge and paper bag skits. Table 2 won the Best Overall Award for that. Cinks of campers in previous years were shown, also a video of an up-and-coming possible Olympic candidate ice skater, Anie (roteau. What a lovely treat - it was to see her skate. She is on her way to her first competition of 1986-87 this next week in Canada. We wish her lots of luck.

We had two very notable EP's of the week. One being the Miss Rucola Contest which was popularly won by Mariann Lange, who changed tradition by being a non-American to win. The runner up was Kristy Auns. All contestants paraded in bathing suits, evening gown and also displayed their special talents, such as gymnastic and piano playing. And secondly, keen dramatists have practised hard to present a play to the rest of camp and some visitors and parents on Saturday evening. "The Final Dress Rehearsal" had a very witty script and was acted extremely well! It was a very polished production - timing and final comradery being excellent. Thanks to Jennifer Jonsen for her expert guidance and to the actresses for an entertaining evening. A delightful dance routine preceded the play, put on by a group of 8 Juniors and taught by Joyce Philson.

This week we will receive the Sun of Maine letters as they were at testing camp. A definite learning experience was their report! The N's also will have for their testing. Having worked hard throughout the summer they have now been tested on their skills and training knowledge. All enjoyed their experiences and we await the results.

A busy and active week as you can see, but we are all hoping, praying and singing (a rendition rangout Sat. AM by Betty, MJ, Jennifer and Judy) for the sun to come out for Sports Week.

Our love,

Alonni

HAPPY BIRTHDAY AMERICA!

Don't bother me today with trivial problems, just leave me alone and let me have some time to share with America. I have some important things to discuss with the old girl and I wonder if you could, please stay away for a while...

America, now that we're alone, just you and me, seeing this being your birthday and all, well,
I thought it would be nice to tell you how very wonderful you really are. I say it's not many a country that can put up with the problems you do and still come out shining like a glistening star! I guess that's really all I have to say and, of course, HAPPY BIRTHDAY!!

(Good Luck!)

The Storm That Came To Rest Hour
And 4th Period And Supper And EP

I was going to say "came to dinner", but my instinctively honest reaction was to keep to facts and so - rest hour is as close as I can come. But let's start at the beginning when Betty predicted a 2:00 storm. No one believed her but low and behold at about 1:45 the sky began to darken. This is akin to "the plot thickens" which indeed it does.

It must be said that the predicted storm did not arrive until 2:30, graciously allowing us the time to get most campers and some staff in and out for at least a quick dip in the lake. When the thunder and lightning came, all campers were directed to the inside of the boat house. This worked well and soon no one but those who hate rec swim and instructional swim were left outside. These people appeared to thrive in the face of all that water. Soon it was over and a decision to have lessons was made. The bell rang to indicate change of activities and the waterfront was declared open. It stayed open for about 10 minutes and was abruptly closed when a second storm began. The situation was now becoming critical and waterfront staff was forced to make yet another decision. A bolt of lightning made that easier. The entire camp quickly returned to the now familiar boat house. Exactly how familiar that location was to become was as yet unknown which was fortunate for those in charge.

While most of camp was marooned at the lake, a few of us were in various locations uphill. Some were valiantly laboring in the kitchen and exhibiting their flexibility by switching picnic menus at the last minute.

Camp Laundry

Twas the day before closing and all through our camp,
The laundry was hanging, cold, wet and damp.
The towels they were hung o're the ring with great care,
While at the garage, lines were strung with their share!
With M.J. at the P.S., and Jen at the shelf,
Every camper set off to re-outfit herself.

They careened up the driveway with giggles galore,
Took Deb's post by storm nothing there anymore!
Then down to the P.S., hopeful again,
And on to the laundry shelf, "Where is it all, then?"
On Chandra, Karena, on Krissy and Judles,
If only you'll look, you'll go back with oodles!
But most of our laundry still had to come Back from Augusta, it was hard luck for some.
As the deadline for packing looked them in the eyes,
The staff weren't pleased with this new surprise!
When it finally arrived and had been given out,
"Some of mine isn't here!" was the general shout.
But no panic ensued and the staff showed great talent
For sorting things out, in fact, they were gallant!
And so, by the time all the campers went home,
To the best of our knowledge, their clothes were their own!

Adult's Ideas

I am a child.
I am innocent.
(am I really?)
I am young, that I know.
I don't "understand".
Ha!
I haven't known death,
I know.
I haven't known horror,
I know.
But I can imagine,
And I can feel,
More than they.

Big Enough

If there were a box that held all the world,
Its spirit and essence,
bird and beast,
each individual as a separate being,
How big would it be?

Reason

I reach out and ask her why.
Her hand pulls away from mine.
Darkness falls
as the light in her eyes dies.
For she is Reason.

Thoughts

I think of people of love of hate of jealousy of privilege of luck of time of life of death of past/present/future.

I think until my mind is weary.

Go slow.

My eyelids droop.

And the night wears on.

"WHY"

Why is the grass green?
Why is the sky blue?
Why are you, you and I'm me?
"Why", I ask, "why"?

What's Camp Runoia?

What's Camp Runoia?
Camp Runoia is a Place to grow,
Learn, achieve, and Most important
Camp Runoia is a place to make life long friends.

Caroline Katzen

The cabins are clean,
The trunks are all packed,
The posters removed from the wall.
We remember this year
As we listen to hear,
The loons and their mournful call.

It's time to say goodbye,
My friend there's no reason to cry,
Oh we'll meet again
And forever we're friends,
It's time to say goodbye.

The floors have been swept,
The boats are pulled in.
For our trip we're now prepared.
But when we get home,
Our thoughts will soon roam
Back where our smiles were shared.

So give me a hug
And let's share a smile,
Before this moment does end
Let's pray that never
Will our goodbyes be forever.
So goodbye just for now my friend.

Joyce Philman

Runoia

A magic place of trees and lakes and sunny summer skies,
A magic place of moonlit nights, echoed with loons' cries,
A place where people gather to be happy as they live
A place where people learn to love, and learn to take and give...
The so hot days of sunshine and those nights when children freeze, Having to do dishes, and getting stung by buzzing bees, Dreading swimming lessons when the lake is really rough,
And pulling in your main sheet when the sail begins to luff.
Paddling with power across the lake to get to Oak,
Walking by the counselors' room and seeing all the smoke...
Hugging trees and pitching tents and having raincoat packs
And getting through your "backsies" in a rought-tough game of jacks, Sitting on a water balloon on Independence Day,
And counting days till camp when it's still 8 months away,
And riding horses and singing songs and finding a new friend,
And hoping that these happy days will never have to end...
For this is all Runoia and these are things we come to share,
This is the place that means so much and the people for whom we care,
For here our senses come alive,
we see and hear and feel,
And things we never knew before become so very real...
The wind that blows the birch trees and the sun that warms the day,
The noise of chipmunks rustling as they prance in merry play,
The echo of the sea gulls as they soar from high above,
And all the smiling faces as they glow in summer's love.

(Tune: You Are My Sunshine)

Oh where's the sunshine
That silly sunshine
We're getting tired of this rain,
We can't go swimming,
We can't play tennis,
This is driving us insane.

We're optimistic
That this will end soon,
And then the sun will shine on through.
We're not complaining
Because it's raining
We're sure that the skies will turn blue.

7th Shack - Peppy Song

In a camp beside a lake,
Lived a shack who was in shape.
We were clean and we were lean,
And the best you've ever seen.

Chorus:

We all live in Runoia Camp for girls
Runoia Camp for girls,
Runoia Camp for girls,
We all live in Runoia Camp for girls
Runoia Camp for girls
Runoia Camp for girls.

Without a light we did survive,
And on candy we did thrive,
Pine Island is the one
With whom we hope to have some fun.

Chorus:

We all live in Runoia Camp for girls,
Runoia Camp for girls,
Runoia Camp for girls,
We all live in Runoia Camp for girls,
Runoia Camp for girls
Runoia Camp for girls.

Every night after dark
We would stay up late to build an ark
Because it rained and then it poured,
For forty days or even more.

Chorus:

We all live in Runoia Camp for girls,
Runoia Camp for girls,
Runoia Camp for girls,
We all live in Runoia Camp for girls,
Runoia Camp for girls,
Runoia Camp for girls.

80th Anniversary Celebration

The 80th Anniversary of Runoia was celebrated in style. It was the morning of July 12th when the excitement began. Alumnae trickled into camp throughout the day to screams of recognition. Their progeny were found all over camp.

The dinner was delicious lobster and chicken. Phil and Betty collected a huge pile of lobster bodies as always for their own enjoyment.

Then, half an hour before the Great Anniversary Production was scheduled to begin, cold raindrops, showers and finally buckets of rain poured down. Director Jenifer Johnson decided to move the production indoors to the lodge. There, a blazing fire and nearly 200 people quickly raised the temperature. Betty and Phil introduced the show dedicating the lodge to Miss Weiser and the dining room to Marian Johnson (Johnny). A portrait of each is to be hung at the far end of the lodge.

The production consisted of eight short skits, each representing a decade in Runoia's history. Featured were an initiation process, a memorable parakeet funeral, a Runoia bubble gum scandal, a fashion show and classic rest hour antics.

Afterwards, the Alumnae, led by Mary Ann Rhodes (Gerbie) ran Vespers. The next morning they continued the theme of harmony in their Sunday Service. The 80th Anniversary ended as the Alumnae departed leaving fond memories of good times and friendships.

"Happy Birthday! Camp Runola !!!"

by Jeanie Bobis Forden ('46-'50) to the tune: "Puff, the Magic Dragon"

(verse)
At this magic moment, so short yet OH! so sweet.
We're gathered all together, a "friend" to fondly greet!
Eighty seasons giving girls a place to grow
Sound in mind and body, with that lovely summer glow!
We wish you "Happy Birthday"! We sing to your fame!
Maine is your homeland - Runola is your name!
(chorus)
* White clouds, * Blue sky and water, beneath the green pine tree ...
We ^(frolick) frolicked in the northern sun, in a "land of harmony"!

* maybe this was how White & Blue Teams originated... in such a "land of harmony" - even this lively competition symbolizes unity as with clouds, sky and water! I just happened to be a * WHITE "cloudchild" (RAH!) ... but my roommate, Molly Marble, (also a White) and I were "very best chums" with Perry Flynt, who was Captain of the Blue Team and a "cracker jack" athlete (swimmer, tennis player etc. etc.).

And one more word about the MIRACLE of Camp Runola for me ... in the area of "growing sound in mind and body". I was not a natural athlete and a bit timid about competition. The side stroke was my only really comfortable accomplishment in Great Pond - so Johnny and Mrs. Grant came up with a side stroke RACE, which I won every season! Cheers!

I am so sorry I can't be with you "in body", but you better believe it ... I'm with you in spirit!

Jeanie "B"

Sunday SERVICE
Selections

Sunday Service

Being a family is understanding and caring for each other. Some people only limit their family to their mother, father, sisters and brothers, but that's not all true. Some of the closest relationships are held between friends. Here at camp we hold some of those closest ties which makes this camp one big family.

Betsy Nicholson

My Sister

I love my sister with all my heart.
The bond between us shall never part.
Though in the future we may grow astray,
I shall not leave her, I will find a way,
To let her know how much I care,
And pray that she will always be there.
For now and forever, I hope we may stay
Dearest friends for always in every way.

Jennifer Rohrbach

Sisters are special. They are people you can relate to. They are people you can tell things you wouldn't dare tell anyone else. Some people think that their sisters are brats or know-it-alls, but if you just give them time you'll find out just how special your sister is. I'm one of the lucky people to have a sister. And I'm glad I waited around to find out how special she is.

Helen Vostrovsky

My great-grandmother is old and can't hear very well. She can't remember everybody. When she sees her great-grandchildren and grandchildren and other relatives all there caring for her on her birthday, her face lights up. Few things could mean that much to her. To know that they are healthy, it makes her proud. She prays for all of us. She wants all to do well. Only the family could make her proud when she is losing a lot. To know they will carry on is worth more than a lot of things.

Kate Alter

Music

What would we do without music. Music is something that makes life different. Music can make life sad and happy. But if you ask me, I don't think we could live a very happy life with no music.

Rebecca Sutel

Skunks

They may scare you,
but you scare them too.
They may smell sometimes,
but sometimes so do you.
They may come out at night,
but they stay out of sight
Why do you hate skunks?
Because you don't share bunks?

Loons

The loon is a beautiful bird. It's as simple as black and white but its pattern is so complicated. The loon patrols the lake as the guard of wildlife in the area. As dusk turns to nightfall, the loon begins to sing. Some nights he sings for hours and others only a few minutes. The song sometimes sounds like a child crying, which frightens many people. The loon call is a neat song to hear in the middle of the night as you lie in bed unable to sleep.

Suzanne Bleau

Stars

Stars are small.
Stars are bright.
Stars are little hamps,
Hanging from the sky.
Stars are poems.
Stars are songs.
Stars can tell the truth
But, stars cannot be wrong.
Stars are so shy,
They flicker just at night,
When everybody is sleeping
And everything is dark.

Lucia Gomez

As the wind blows the flowers sway lightly and beautifully.
The morning glories smell sweet and fresh. The thistles tangle with other weeds and the orchids start to bloom.
The flower I always look at in the morning is white and it looks like a star in the evening sky. When it opens it is beautiful and it smell so good.

Sarah Fiset

Water

Water can be human when the wind is not upsetting the water.
It has no quarrel, but when the wind is annoyed by the rain, thunder and lightning it has no respect. The water becomes cruel. The waves pick up and the white caps arise.

There's more to water besides it's emotions. When water is warm it's a joy to swim but when the water is cold, you don't want to get in.

Water is so calm and can be so beautiful. You can just sit there and enjoy the serene life.

Chandra Cox

The Music Of The Cat Or Kitten

The gentle mew
The comforting purr
The song of soft fur
Against my hand.
To me, this is the greatest
Music of all.

Nancy Roth

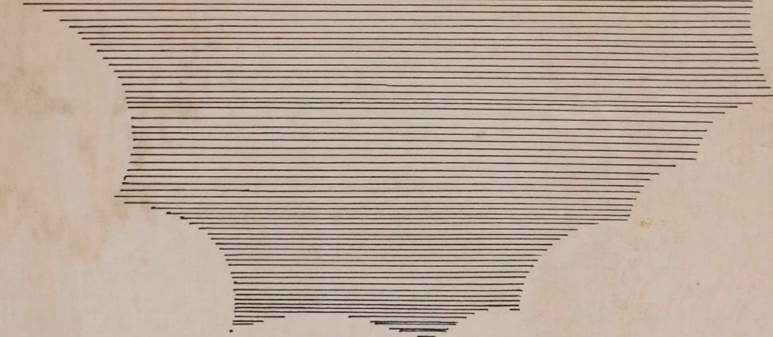

Everybody is nice in one way or another. Everybody has human qualities but also setbacks. Friends are important, you should make them and like them because of what they are as individuals and not because of what they have or where they come from.

Claudia Serrane

Water

Water is useful in so many ways, it is there to cool you on hot summer days. Water houses creatures great and small, and covers the world, and supplies almost all. It is a necessity for every being alive on this earth, without it nothing would survive, not even the earth.

Fort Knox

On Tuesday, Third Shack went to Fort Knox. When we first got there we ate lunch and picked blueberries. When we finished lunch we listened to bagpipes.

Then we went on a guided tour. We went to the powder magazines and to the officers' quarters. We went in tunnels. Then we climbed cannons.

When we left, we got brochures.

The Junior Trip to Oak Island

Oak Island was fun. We went in the motor boat. Almost everything in the boat got wet.

When we got to Oak Island we set up our tents first. Then we went swimming. After that, we got dinner ready.

For dinner we had spaghetti with bits of hamburger meat in it. We also had salad and popcorn. For dessert we had congo bars. The congo bars were mushy. They were not shaped in bars.

After that we canoed to Pine Island. Then we went to bed. In the morning for breakfast we had eggs with onions, bacon and cheese. Then we went back to camp.

Kira Berland

Blueberry Hill

For getting good marks in inspection for ten days, Third Shack went to Blueberry Hill. When we got there we ate lunch and picked raspberries. Then we washed our cups and picked lots of blueberries.

The most blueberries went to Alice and Sarah. Then we ate some of the blueberries but not all of them. We got into the van and left, but before we came back to camp, we stopped for ice cream and put our leftover blueberries on it. Mmm, it was good!

Alice Myers

The Beach

The beach was fun. When we got to the beach some people went swimming and some wrote letters. Some laid in the sun.

Kira, Ashley and Robyn made a big, big hole. It could hold three people in it. For lunch we had peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and cream cheese and jelly sandwiches. For dessert we had rice krispy bars with chocolate chips in them.

Kira picked many shells up from the beach and after lunch we went swimming. The water was a little cold. On the way back to camp we stopped for ice cream.

The Rangeley I Trip

This trip was lots of fun!!! We left right after breakfast and paddled for about two hours. When we arrived at Students' Island, our campsite was occupied by Camp Pondicherry. But we camped there anyway.

Our counselors were Janet Hathaway and Tami Peck. I tented with Cindy Hedel; Laura Wax was with Eleonore Froidure and Michelle Fiset was in a tent with Jenny Witherspoon. Cindy spent most of her time studying for JMG.

Our meals were very good and of course, fattening!!! We went for a walk around the island and studied our trees. We also found a diving rock and three or four beaches.

The morning we were leaving we woke up at 6:00 A.M.. On the way back it was very strange because it only took us one hour and we weren't paddling very hard. Joe was there at the landing to pick us up and we all had lunch with the Rangeley II group.

Claudia Serrano

The Rangeley III Trip Log

Wednesday, 23rd July:

7:30 A.M. - Rise-n-shine! Time to get ready to leave.

9:00 A.M. - Leave for Rangeley.

Arrived at Rangeley. Unpacked truck and moved things into various canoes. As we canoed down the lake, the water became rough from sudden gusts of wind. It took longer than we had expected.

As soon as we had unpacked, we lunged at the trip boxes for food. We then ate our fill, followed by the chore of putting up the tents. As soon as we had worked up a sweat, we took a refreshing dip in the lake.

Because we were so tired, we dragged ourselves up to our tents to take a rest. As we awoke from our sleep, Janet came around to tell us that, yes, we would have to collect wood, that bothersome chore we all hate. When we all met back at the campsite, we were either assigned to cook, clean-up or tend to the fire.

AS we waited anxiously for dinner, the cooks were busy making: chicken patties, corn, juice and cake. After supper we took skinnies. After we had gotten clean and dressed, we drank cocoa and told stories by the fire.

Bedtime.

Thursday, 24th July:

Woke up late. Cooked breakfast of: bacon, pancakes, biscuits and o.j.. Cleaned up and then took canoe ride to Seagull Island.....Smelly!!!

Collected firewood along island in canoe. When we got back, we decided to take a swim since we had nothing else to do. Afterwards, we fixed a scrumptious lunch consisting of: BLT's, macaroni and cheese and juice.

After cleaning up, we left for the diving rock, where we took skinnies. As we were having fun diving off the rocks, we noticed that two boats were coming awfully close. We got out.

We left the rocks to go explore the island. Once again we returned for skinnies. We then had a snack. Rest Period.

Cooked dinner of: Texas Tommies, peas, baked beans, salad, brownies, juice, "s'mores" and cocoa. Then we went for a swim and after that talked for awhile. We finally went to sleep.

Friday, 25th July:

Woke up. Packed up. Made breakfast of scrambled eggs, sausage, coffee cake, juice and cocoa. Cleaned up and packed canoes.

Oak Island Trip

After all the planning and the anticipation for the first Oak Island trip, the woodsy, pine-needle laden little island seemed almost like Runoia without the grass, shacks and tennis courts. It was my first camping trip and, I suppose, I did learn something. We had started off late, so right after we arrived it was like an assembly line; first unload the canoes, then pitch the tents, which was followed by the dreaded activity: "collection of firewood." It was easy, really, but took some searching which nobody was up for. However, adequate firewood was eventually collected.

Dinner seemed to be everybody's main priority, including the cooks who quickly began to prepare it. Only one thing was missing: MEAT!!! So, we had to grin and bear it and had hamburger puns with nothing in-between but cheese and bacon - our hamburger meat substitute! It tasted good and what we had was rapidly devoured.

After dinner, our lazy clean-up crew washed all the dishes and silverware sloppily, hopped into suits and raced down to the rocks to go swimming. It ended up that only two people went in and all they did was wade up to their thighs. It was a good example of a waste of time!

Everyone then returned to their tents and slowly got dressed again. The classic "s'mores" and hot cocoa followed along with story-telling around the fire.

We all woke up late the next morning and, drained of energy, we stumbled to the trip box and clumsily prepared breakfast. I don't remember if breakfast was good, bad - raw or overcooked - all I know was that it recognizable as food generally eaten in the morning.

All in all, it was a basic camp camping trip and it was fun, I'm sure, for all the participants.

Long Lake Trip

We unracked our canoes and filled them up with equipment once we reached our destination. We pushed off and started paddling. We paddled until we reached our campsite.

We unpacked, set up the tents and had a sandwich for lunch. Then across from us was a big flat rock (suntan rock) where we went swimming and got a suntan.

Next we paddled back, collected firewood and finally had dinner. We were starving! And off to bed we went, of course, after dessert.

In the morning, we had some breakfast and paddled after. It was a beautiful trip back! It was gorgeous! We reached the dam and met Long Lake II there.

It was a great trip and I'm sure we all had fun.

Bald Mountain Trip

We were all ready for Bald Mountain. We jumped in the van and off we went, excited to hike the mountain, no matter how big or small. When we reached the mountain we grabbed our stuff and started off. In the beginning it wasn't bad at all. There were homemade-like steps in the ground from the roots.

As we went on, it got steeper and harder, but still bearable for most of us. While we hiked we saw the ground turning to rock and the trees grew smaller. We grabbed on to trees so we wouldn't slip down the steep, slick rock.

We climbed until we could see the top. It was all rock. We kept going. When we reached the top we had some lunch and right away started back.

It was much easier going back down. We slid on the flat rocks. Not many of us got hurt. Just a few scratches and scrapes. We jumped in the van and off we went for camp.

Fairy Ring Trip

Everyone was all packed up for Fairy Ring. We got all the supplies and started walking. When we reached it, we set up the tents and unpacked. Next came collecting firewood. That was no problem. We fixed dinner and had a feast with no hesitation. Clean-up started and soon it was getting dark. We all wanted to go for a skinny, though, and so into the cold water we went. We jumped in and jumped out, headed for warm clothes. Then we all sat by the fire, sang songs and cooked marshmallows.

Then off to bed. In the morning everything went smoothly; breakfast and of course, clean-up. Then we packed up our stuff and back to camp we went!

Last Will And Testament

I, Lily Batchelder, bequeath my King tapes to Amanda, my weirdness (not queeriness) to Claudia, my rugby shirt to Sarah Sutel, my knowledge of the eyelash cutting and flavored braces busines to Krissy, my peanut M&M's to Erika, any Johanna Lindsey books I buy in the future to Joyce and to Seventh Shack I bequeath Hooker.

I, Amanda Borella (Banana or Munda), being of sound mind and overly plump body, bequeath the following: to Vanessa I leave my English vocabulary, to Lillifer I leave my strangeness and lasting friendship, to Sarah Sutel I leave my weird dancing, to Erika Milligan I leave my hair dryer, to Jacynthe I leave my trouble-making abilities, to Krissy I leave my weird music, to Claudia I leave my love and friendship forever, and to Seventh Shack I wish Hooker a long life. To the Whites I leave the best of luck for the next year. Unfortunately, I have lost all my other possessions in the laundry and am therefore unable to give them away. If you find them, please return them to me.

I, Sarah Keith Chalmers, being of weird mind and tall body, do hereby bequeath the following: I leave fifty 'ho knee toes" to Erika, to Sarah Sutel I leave my royal blue shorts. I give all my help so she won't be scared during thunderstorms to Dawn. I leave all my birthday candy to Betty, my baby powder to Amanda, and my very frequent weird moods to Seventh Shack, along with Hooker. To Sue Vostrovsky I leave my green army jacket and to Dawn I leave my jean jacket. I leave the future Blues good luck and all my love to Sarah Sutel and Dawn.

I, Cyndy Hedel, being of sound mind and body, bequeath the following: to Sue Vostrovsky I leave Advil for the PMS bear, eternal gratitude for being at testing camp with me and all the memories we shared. Never forget the illegitimate moth, I'm sure he'll never forget us! Good luck, Pondicherry! It cooked! To Sharon Hathaway I leave all my friendship and love. You made my summer real. Thanks for everything. I couldn't have done it without you. I love you more than life, from Drea and me. To Janet Hathaway I leave my thanks for being the sister I never had -- I love you. Thanks for listening and understanding me. Cool Beans! To Seventh Shack I leave all the time I wasn't there. Sorry! I love you guys. It was great. To the shack itself I leave Hooker (Gigolo). To Sharon West, my Penny Lover I leave all the Lionel Richie and Jack Wagner tapes ever produced. To Jenny Rohrbach I leave the ability to whistle. Heman! To future JMG's (including Sue and me) I leave the best of luck and a skimpy bikini for Gard's canoeing test. I hope you have special people to help you through like I did. Thanks everyone. Runoia is GREAT!

I, Erika Milligan, bequeath my spirit and loyalty to the Blues. To Sarah Sutel I leave Pine Island's Edwin. I leave my Rob Lowe pictures to Melizza Gary. I leave Sarah Chalmer's candy to her so I don't get fat. Good luck!! I leave JMG to Cindy. To Lily I leave here the joy of being a CIT with me. To Cathy I leave my riding skills to be improved. To Amanda I leave my dancing. To Vanessa and Jacynthe I leave my English. To Claudia I leave my ability to speak Spanish (which is not much). To Anna I leave my books for her to read. To Karen I leave my squashed animals. I leave to whomever to have a nice and wonderful roommate like I did (which is Krissy). To Krissy I also leave my saying, "You're so cute, I love you!!" I leave Seventh Shack to go to First Shack with Cindy, Sarah Sutel, Sarah Chalmers, Lily Batchelder and Amanda Borella. To Dawn I leave my ability to sail. To Marie, I leave our song (I'll still be her little chick). To Joyce, I leave my braveness to go into the lake to swim. To Seventh Shack I leave Hooker and Gigolo. I leave Seventh Shack to Krissy! I leave all my hope and spirit to the Blues and the next Blue team captain. Good luck, Blues. I leave my luck and spirit to the Whites also, especially the captain, even though I wasn't a White, they will always be with me! Good luck next year Whites!

I, Sarah Anne Sutel, being of noisy sound, lost mind and fat body, do hereby bequeath the following: my permission to Rick to borrow any piece of clothing she wants to, a farm full ONLY of seductive pigs to Krissy, a real cat that purrs loudly to Jen Kimball to keep her company when I'm not with her, one million "Thola, mi frijolitas Lindissimas!" and "Ie, guapo, dame un beso!" to the Spanish Connection, all the wild dances that I can possibly send Dawn's way, a little rubber duck to Tricycle and to Sushi, Amy, Karin, Gretchen and Jen I leave each five pairs of funky undies. To Cindy I leave as many "Cindy's" as she needs to get through JMG, my black hat to Sarah, my sixth bar to Dawn, who claims she's coming back to see me receive my EXPERT. I wish I could leave something to the Hathaways, but all I can think of is "I love you", also to Tricycle I leave all of my Larry Mullen tunes, to the '86 CIT's and Tracy I leave all of my '86 staff list of Pine Island, my Spanish fluency to Claudia, good weather all year round to Sarah Morris, a dozen ripe Chiquita bananas to Susan Harner, my ability to become larger by simply eating to Booli, one pound of bubble gum and lemon drops to Anne, whom I've been with the seven summers in a row, the monstrous and grotesque bruise on my left inner forearm to Margie, who deserves it because she shoots and is the Archery instructor and never gets them, a promise to Sue Vostrovsky that I will go out for JMG next summer, all of my extra weight to Alisa and Chandra; they can split it any way they want to, and a fully equipped windsurfer guy and real baby chickens to Marie-Claude. To Karen Mynes, a life-size Ken doll complete with his entire wardrobe. A great big warm handshake to Betty and Phil who have permitted me to return here year after year after year after year after year after year after year. To Krissy I also leave a haircut which I owe her and a great big snort, my sports ability, what there is of it, to my two younger sisters, my spirit is to be split in half between my sisters and the Whites, my love and luck to the Whites, and last but certainly not least, my extra, extra special love to Sarah, Sushi and Puddle. I love you guys to pieces, and don't ever forget me because I will never forget you. But to Becca and Judy, I love you guys with all my heart because you're the only two who are younger than me out of the six of us, and if it weren't for you there'd be no one for me to push around.

Apryl L. Zarfos

Always Looks Zoomy

Her hands fly like Madame de Farges
She added a verse onto Barges
Because of her size
Unless it's for guys
She won't get to knit many "larges"!

Judy B. Thompson

Juggles Beaus Terrifically

Our Jude always does the best she can
To make each girl an equestrian
For a lass who's so smart
She's romantic at heart
That's why she gets all the rest she can.

Tracy L. Diamond

Tender Loving Dame

Diamonds are forever it's true
Without "Tiff" or "Mildred" we're blue
Looks through the "binnies"
Strips down for skinnies
Many a man she will try to woo

Sarah T. Smith

Successfully Tried Swimming

Remember the day of the bee swarm?
It caused such a stir and alarm
So fast did she run
The bees had no fun
And all ended well with no harm!

Alice S. Myers

Another Spirited Minor

A sweetie is our Alice Myers
We thought her at first to be "shyer"
But to our surprise
She's opened our eyes
We've hired her out as "town cryer"

Kira K. Berland

Kicks Kindly (the) Ball

So quiet was our Kira Berland
We thought she was minus a throat gland.
We soon came to feel
Her silence not real
As she quickly emerged...it was grand!

Catherine L. Justice

Contains Lots (of) Joy

From down South our sweet Catherine came
For swimming she always was game
Though she had a slow start
She won everyone's heart
And her smile brought her friends, fun and fame.

Andrea S. Gomez

Always Smiley (and) Giggley

We keep telling this girls "It's not Sunday".
She looks at us and says "EEZ EET MUNDAY?"
She's tidy and neat
Her laugh can't be beat
To her every day is just "fun" day!

Rebekah A. Alfond

Runs Around Always

A tan little Alfond is she
From Rec. Swim she always will flee
Puerto Rico is home
Where she will roam
Staying longer we hope she will be.

Carla F. Herrera

Combing Forever (her) Hair

We're glad Mexico thought to share
Dear Carla with all of her hair
She sweeps well with broom
Is clean in her room
With all of her things, she shows care!

Allison A. Wissinger

Always Actively Wandering

Allison is a bit arty
Along with Third Shack she's a smarty
She's neat in her room
Is great with a broom
And to riding she rarely is tardy.

Third Shack

Alyshia B. Hymanson

A Bright Halfpint

Alyshia shows real aptitude
 For eating...if she's in the mood!
 The mess on her plate
 Is cause for debate
But she eats with her mouth closed, that's good!

Karen L. Mynes

Kooky, Loving Monkey

Karen, a counselor and nurse
Who knitted as though under curse
When she wasn't there
The kids in despair-
Would take a big turn for the worse!

Secha A. MacMichael

Silent At Meals

From Skowhegan came Secha so tall
She hated to clean out the stalls
She doesn't knit sweaters
She just waits for letters
Near graham crackers she'll eat them all.

Catherine S. Braswell

Canoes Sideways Beautifully

From down the road came Miss Braswell
With Hot Feet she surely danced jazz well-
But her flashlight at night
Would hit Karen's face bright
And that didn't go over as well.

Laura L. Kimberly

Lovely Looney Kid

As Second Shack's choice for Miss R.
Our Laura should surely go far
With blonde hair and blue eyes
Her star's on the rise
We all think that she's above par.

Lee A. Cobb

Likes All Candy

Our Lee in the shack is a peach
One place that she loves is the beach
In the seaweed one night
She lost the good fight
But for stars she always will reach.

Robin E. Bryant

Reads Every Bedtime

As Junior Maine Woodsman she's great
To riding she seldom was late.
She worked very hard-
Her success never marred-
And earned every bit of her fate.

Kiki R. Drukker

Kababa Reasonably Disbelieves

There was a bright day in mid-June
When Kiki arrived here at noon
A month she did stay
Missed her mom every day
But went home tra-la-ling a tune.

Emily L. Kennedy

Equines Loves Kindly

Emily really liked riding
At the stables she'd be abiding
For all the day long
Her smile would go strong
And down to the beach she'd be striding.

Esther M. de Beauce

Ever Mad Bunny

From Paree came our darling Esther
She became our sparking camp jester
Never got English wrong
When she said it in song
Wish she'd stayed for the second semester.

Emily W. Eklund

Everything Will Eat

Em was new to Runoia this year
And was quite a collector we hear
Her make up was used
But never abused
We all hope we'll see her back here.

Judy B. Sutel

Joys in Bedtime Slumber

From Switzerland she did come late
Quite loudly did she cross our gate
Her room was a mess
That wasn't a guess!
But for Judy we will all wait.

Cecilia S. Stieglitz

Card Shark Fantastico

From South of the border came Ceci-
She made Blue Team Captain no lessi-
When Ligia was near
It was Spanish we'd hear
And she lives with a roommate who's messy.

Starr S. Glidden

Sandy Shores Goes

There was a young twinkler named Starr
Whose smile could be seen from afar
On the play she did work
Not one job did she shirk
With her that is just how things are.

Melissa L. Hoppman

Mainly Loathes Horses

She came to us halfway through summer
Thought thunder and lightening a bummer
For the Whites she will cheer
She is really a dear
Her smiles and blonde hair do become her.

Ashley K. Rooney

Awakened "Kindly" by Robyn

A noise maker is our Ashley-Heading for raids she would be-
She talked late at night,
And used her flashlight.
To our hearts, she sure has the key.

Ligia P. Duarte

Like a Perfect Doll

A quiet young girl seemed Ligia-
But a giggler supreme she could be'a
In Spanish we heard
An occasional word
But next summer we'll say "Hope to see ya."

SECOND SHACK

Heather E. Griffin

Hurries Every Girls

A veteran of CR is Heather-
She skinnies in all kinds of weather
A JMG knitter
We hope it will fit her

We're talking of course of her sweater.

Tami M. Peck

Tastes More Pudding

The NMSU nest she's flown
And now she's in need of a loan
A job she must get
But until then she's wet
She reads classified with a groan.

Susan D. Vostrovsky

Seems Dee Vine

This summer Sue was the lone Aide
Wet day fires she certainly made.
Although she came late,
We thought her first rate
For another we never would trade.

Sarah S. de Goldschmidt

Such (a) Sweet Girl

"I've camp's longest name" she would say
And a big part of camp she did play
From France she did come
With Hollywood gum
"Not my fault" she'd say right away.

Amy R. Keene

Always Real Kind

From the South land came dear Amy Keene
At sailing she often was seen
She liked Arts and Craft
Candles made by the raft
We're glad to Runoia she's been.

Lucila Banos

Loves Breakfast

From Mexico our Lucila she came Tennis was known as her game
So neat was her room
Off with friends she would zoom
Without her we'd not be the same.

Nancy A. Roth

Never Arrived Running

Our Nance came from Ol' Tennessee
Wednesday morn with MJ she would flee
To lessons she'd go
To play pi-an-o
And she sails, rides and swims with great glee.

Caroline S. Katzen

Can Seem Krazy

Her room was unusually neat
For Fourth Shack that's really a feat!
She's White Captain again
Always cheering for them
But she wiggles when put on a seat.

Kim E. Irwin

Keeps Evenings Interesting

Philadelphia sent us our Kim
Whose prospects are not very dim
She sings oh, so well
Her dancing is swell-
As for stardom-she's right on the rim.

Tara B. Kellogg

Tenaciously Breaks Kindling

This Kellogg can often be found
At campcraft just hacking around
Many skills she is learning
For that badge she's yearning
We find her a great girl all round.

Andrea A. Serrano

Master At Spanish

Andrea arrived here much taller
But her appetite grew, not got smaller
She kept us awake
Which was a mistake
For then we were forc-ed to holler.

Camilla M. Meyer

Comes Merrily Marching

Many candles Camilla did make
Her coming was not a mistake
Her English quite proper
There's no need to stop her
We hope she'll return for our sake.

Svea R. Robinson

Seems Really Rowdy

A day camper Svea became
And boy did she love to complain
To riding she'd run
"Swimming's not fun"
Her departure to us is a shame.

Marie A. de Noailles

Made Alot (of) Noise

Marie this year came from la France
Upon horses she often did prance
Oops it is not Sunday
She uttered on Monday
When she parlayed Francais just by "chance".

Rebecca C. Sutel

Rarely Comes Swimming

Rebecca did hate her lake rash
To the shower she always would dash
She'd scream when beside her
Would crawl down a spider
But her animal farm has panache.

Rinear R. Thatcher

Makes Runoia Thankful

Rinear, we were so glad to meet her
Seems she stirs up her room with a beater
To computers she went
And her time was well spent
'Cause with microchips she's much neater.

Danielle L. Rose

Does Love Runoia

Danielle came for year number two
JMW she certainly did do
At soccer an ace
It was hard to keep pace
And she certainly cheered for the Blues.

Anne L. Ackerman

Always Loves Archery

A rather fine archer is Anne
For her dancing there's many a fan
Bullseyes were acquired
Her swimming admired
We hope she'll come back if she can.

Jennifer W. Olmsted

Joyful While Outside

Fourth Shack for Jen O. is the place
Though now she's got less skin on her face
To herself she would talk
"Accidently", she'd squawk
Her sneakers she found hard to lace.

FOURTH SHACK

(Second Half)

Sue M. Bleau

Seeks Many Boys

Cedar Camp is her favorite stalk
She is often found taking a walk
Although far out of reach
It's her much longed for beach
And of nothing else will Sue Bleau talk.

Sharon L. Hathaway

She Loves Hacky

If Sharon is not seen around
With her hacky sack she can be found
When the going gets rough
As a victim she's tough
With good humor this girl does abound.

Margie A. Rigel

Must Always Run

Our Margie's at home on the range
To no program in camp is she strange
She schedules us well
Is to everyone swell
And her life is now due for a change.

Sarah L. Morris

Sarah Leaves Memories

Our Sarah's here for year number two.
There's not much that she cannot do.
At swimming she does well
For the Blues she does swell.
Though her room sometimes looks like a zoo.

Sabrina M. Wisner

Sabrina Must Whine

To Cairo Sabrina will go.
In clean-up she was always quite slow.
At sailing a whiz
Into everyone's biz
She always went well with the flow.

Tanya C. White

Tanya Curses Water

Our Tanya was almost deranged
At success on the archery range
When it came to the water
She did what she oughter
Even though she thought skinnies were strange.

Ann P. Russell

Ann Provides Riots

It was nice having Ann Russell around
With Sue she could always be found
When told to do laps
Her mouth it did flaps-
For swimming she always was bound.

Karena B. Johnson

Kauses Bedtime (Hi) Jinx

Karena came to us so quiet.
She never did go on a diet
With Cox and Morris she's found
Hope next year she's camp bound.
Many nights she's caused quite a riot.

Chandra L. Cox

Chandra Loves Chattering

When you listen you hear Chandra Cox
Can never find more than one of her sox
With Sarah she's found
Making more than one sound
Did Pine Island think her a fox?

Andrea Dudley

Always Decent

Andrea arrived here from Standish
Her reading is truly outlandish
With Julie she is found Off to riflery bound
In the water she's really a fish.

Julie A. Edwards

Julie Always Edits

At knitting our Julie did try Everyone wondering why.
For her Pooh was quite old
And getting a cold.
She finally gave out a cry.

Michelle B. Fiset

Mischievous But Fun

I've eaten like three pigs, she'd say,
But gaining weight, there's just no way,
I've lost half a pound,
As giggles abound,
Oh silly Mimi, you're OK.

Laura A. Wax

Loathes American Ways

From Hamburg came our Laura Wax
Our patience she strongly did tax
On a horse she was boss
In the woods she knows moss
And her talent for drama is max.

Eleonore A. Froidure

Excellent At French

Although her skills at campcraft were quite new Eleonore joined the JMW crew
Then again a New Yorker-
She sure was a corker
At half season we bid her adieu.

Janet R. Alter

Jumps Right Alone

At canoeing our Janet does strive
In the shack she's always alive.
She came in the middle
And never did diddle.
An addition she's been to Shack Five.

Mariana Banos

Must Babble

Mariana arrived with no clothes
For Miss Runoia surreptitiously posed.
Often found with a smile
Speaking Spanish the while
And beauty is that of a rose.

Susan S. Harner

Susan Steadily Hollers

Our Sue was quite a tall lase
Who always fell on the grass
Miss Ugly near won
But all in good fun
And Basic Rescue she did pass.

Lucia Gomez

Loathes Games

For tennis she was such a hit.
But for rest hour she cannot sit.
When the water was cold
She was never too bold.
In Spanish she had many fits.

FIFTH SHACK

Hazel M. Coates

Hastens Meds (to) Campers

In her English accent she blaars,
On time off, she waxed her leg hairs,
At windsurfing great-
As nurse never late.
A bitty bikini she wears

Sharon L. West

Slow to Lose Weight

On a rock she did cut her toe,
To hospital she had to go,
She and Trace are a pair,
Thinner Thighs she did swear,
With sailing she's an absolute pro.

Janet L. Hathaway

Jogs Lots (Ha, Ha)

Many things our Jan hangs on the wall,
With Plast-tac, so it won't fall
"Hot Stuff" on her bed
Thoughts of Bob is her head
Wakes up with her clothes in a ball.

Cornelia S. Ulman

Can Speak Unconsciously

Cornelia's a talker, it's true,
In campcraft she learnt something new,
She can't make her bed,
But let it be said,
At Runoia she's never blue.

Marie C. Smith

Merry Canadian Skater

A tall Canadian is she,
To archery she'll always flee,
Quiet as a mouse,
At skating no louse,
A messy girl she'll never be!

Melissa A. Gary

Merry And Giddy

At riflery so good is Meliss,
One day our Betsy, she tried to kiss.
The door was kicked in.
The Whites she'll help win.
Her voice so high, we're sure to miss.

Cathy J. Prodo

Can Jump Perfectly

On trips our sweet Cathy would go,
Her spirits are high, never low.
Off, her hair it did come,
For riding, not glum.
She's a cutier, that we all know.

Jillian K. Kellogg

Jolly Kind Kid

A Floridian girl through and through
For summer's in Maine, she's not blue.
Her hair she did cut.
In no beauty rut.
Her innocent look leaves no clue.

Helen J. Vostrovsky

Has Jillions (of) Verukahs

One day our Helen stepped on a nail.
"I can't swim for Blue/White," she did wail.
The name Jana she likes.
In diving she pikes.
Off to Czech we don't want her to sail.

Jennifer A. Rohrbach

Jokes Around Riotously

Our Jenny, she swims many miles,
For her nightttime jokes, we'll show smiles.
In her white hat found,
To tennis she's bound.
"I don't live on a farm," she riles.

Kate A. Alter

Kate Answers (in) Accents

Her body it is a rubber band-
Sucks in her gut or makes it expand.
Many accents she tries.
In a big bed she lies.
Her hair can be seen all o'er the land.

Elisabeth G. Francoeur

Energetically Gabs (in) French

From Quebec Elisabeth hails,
Her English skill, it never fails.
She sings at the table.
Riding, she's able.
From her room, you'll hear many wails.

Margaret R. Jones

Most Rarely Jabbering

This summer is Margaret's first one.
Asking questions, she's never done.
Not far from her home
To crafts she does roam
We hope she'll come back for more fun.

Silvia T. Duarte

She Tirelessly Draws

Colombia's cutie is she.
Her smile it is easy to see.
Up from Third Shack she came.
Her pictures, not lame.
An artist she could surely be.

Betsy E. Nicholson

Effortlessly Eliminates Nails

Our Betsy's a pleasure around.
At many a sport she'll be found.
"What's the weather tonight?"
We respond with delight
Just get in your bed with no sound.

Shelley A. Ahern

Sails Away Anxiously

Our Shel was the messenger girl.
On her bike she surely did whirl.
As Miss Ugly she won,
But she's lots of fun.
In dancing she'll do quite a twirl.

Jennifer A. Witherspoon

Jolly And Willing

On many trips Jennifer went,
To Rangeley and Oak she was sent,
She srops like an ace,
What an innocent face,
In Sixth your Cool Aid was not meant.

Sarah A. Fiset

Sarah Adores Frogs

From scenic Quebec Sarah came
Her humor has brought her great fame
Looking under the logs
In search of small frogs
Her energy never is lame.

SIXTH SHACK

Dawn R. Crump

Delights (in) Riotous Carousal

In the voice of Snuffles she speaks
On the dock, she frequently streaks
Braids, this year she dons
For Dylan she fawns.
a "granola" at heart, not a "freak".

Joyce P. Philman

Joyful Peppy Person

Our Joyce is some strange kind of belle
Not the kind that rings you can tell
She had quite a fright
When she touched the wet light
And her bears are something to sell.

Claudia Serrano

Casually Starts Something

"I'm too fat!" is the cry at the table.
But she still eats as much as she's able.
One day she'll find out
That she's not really stout,
Perhaps we should send her a cable.

Lily L. Batchelder

Loves Laughing Blissfully

Our Lily's a lover of romance
With dope on the soaps she takes no chance
Want to cause friction?
Just mess with her fiction-
With "Sting", for a filing, she would go dance.

Erika M. Milligan

Eats Many Meals

Our Ricka's the gal with the tan
She longs to have Lee as her man
Once, while she was dreaming
For him started screaming
And of that her ol' shack was no fan.

Sarah A. Sutel

Something Always Said

In Seventh is Sarah Sutel
Who tends to sleep through the bell
She loves to cut hair
And guys should beware
On Pine Island her thoughts seem to dwell

Jessica Guertin

Just Groovy

For "Miss Ugly" she tried for her shack-
With stuffed shirt and hot plastic sack-"Tho she didn't place
She didnt lose face
It was held by a yucky green masque.

Sarah K. Chalmers

Seeks Kindness Constantly

Our Sarah she eats like a horse
But doesn't look like one, of course
She dances around
And acts like a clown
Her energy's a huge, boundless force.

Kristine Mott Auns

Kleverly Maneuvers Always

Leading the Whites was her forte,
In spite of a burp, belch or snort,
We'd sure want no other
As Fairy Godmother,
Our Krissy - a credit to sport.

Amanda A. Borella

Always Attacking Blubber

Oh how this girl frets about weight!
She does her Jane Fonda 'til late.
Though diets she talks,
She sure never balks,
But enjoys every bite on her plate.

Vanessa M. de L'Epine

Very Much Delighted

Great poise has Miss de L'Epine
A frown on her face seldom seen
Too slim for the giggles
But bursting with giggles
Far into the night she has been.

Jacynthe M. Rodrigue

Joyful Maybe Rowdy

Jacynthe is a lovely French lass
Her group moves together en masse
She's new here this year
But she brought us great cheer
We sure think she's top of the class.

Cindy M. Hedel

Constantly Making Hurrah

To the shack she seldom does come
But to JMG she must run
She'll always be found
Just poling around
And Kay's songs she does constantly hum.

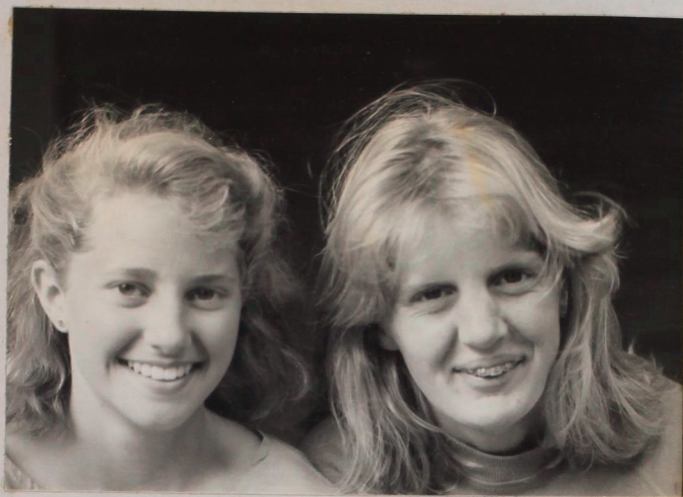

Karen Rose

Kauses Disaster Regularly

A lovely young Rose is this lass
A chance to hear rock she won't pass
Each night we can see
That she listens with glee
Thanks to earphones no one she'll harass.

Anna W. Sims

Always Will Smile

Anna's a Runoia girl rare
A Barbie Doll blonde who's quite fair
She's the Blue Team Captain
Who knows just what's hap'ning
At skinnies she's modest to "bare".

Alisa N. Mudge

Another Nutty Mess

Alisa is really amusing-
Though, once in a while quite confusing
For the day she lit out
With alarm we did shout
"Til we found her 'neath Seventh Shack snoozing.

SEVENTH SHACK

CIT's

Karin E. Rohrbach

Kindles Each Romance

Our Karin's a gymnast supreme
A jewel on the C.I.T. team
She's loaded with poise
Tho' her minds full of boys
About whom she does tend to scream.

Anne S. Katzen

Always So Knowledgeable

For hours in campcraft Anne sat-
With Jen J. risked many a spat
But should you require
A rainy day fire
She'll set one in fifteen mins. flat.

Gretchen M. Meyerhoff

Grows Merrier Momentarily

There once was a CIT named of Gretchen
Who at first, did her share of kvetchin'
With the program she got
And we thank her alot Cause when Gretchen's not kvetchin' she's fetchin'

Jennifer K. Kimball

Juba's Konstant Lady

Jen K.'s sense of style is unique
Pink wigs and green legs now are chic.
It's surely no humor,
Her keen sense of humor,
And Juba, her bear, rates a peek.

Kursla A. Robinson

Knive's Always Ready

Our Kursla's a mind of her own
To the isle of the swam she did roam.
She whittles away
While all of us pray
That she'll clean up the pile on her foam.

Anie D. Croteau

Absolutely Delights Crowds

Anie cuts a figure so nice
When she spins and twirls on the ice
Though her accent's on movin'
Her English's improvin'
But "mous t'aimons, Anie" will suffice.

Amy E. Ruddle

A m a z i n g E n t h s i a s m Reverberates

An amiable lass is our Ame,
Her answer is always the same -
When asked "who will do it?"
She says "I'll see to it."
Thus adding anew to her fame.

Susan C. Huber

S u c h Such C h a r m i n g H i l a r i t y

Our Sue is a charming chanteuse
Who finds it a snap to amuse
Whoever is listenin'
But when the sun starts aglistenin"
An encore she tends to refuse.

CIT's

Betty N. Cobb

Ever Needling Counselors

Who's that in the dawn's early light
"Tis Betty, with basket, all right
She's been to college
And to her knowledge
She did not lose a camper last night.

Mary Jane Mott Auns

Makes Justs Marvelous Administrator

The program for sure is her say,
If it rains it's just not her day.
Every song she does know,
If you ring, I will blow -
Is the '86 quip from MJ.

Philip J. Cobb

Persistently Juggles Computers

Up early this fourth of July
Phil watched as the door Jen did try
While concealing a grin,
The control he pushed in
As the door rose, he saw she could fly.

Hale H. Sims

Loves Hacking Stumps

Who is that sly silver fox?
That Mother Courageous in socks?
You can bet your grilled meat
It ain't rain, snow or sleet
It's Hale-she'll sure sharpen your "oxe".

Debra C. Spencer

Develops Candid Shots

From the sunshine state Debbie came Infection/inspection's her game
On weekends she goes
In "Maine" finds no woes
Her nursing skills, bring her great fame.

Jennifer E. Johnson

Jokingly Entertains Juveniles

Runoia now has its own drama
The CIT's have their own mama
Our new star is shining
Although when she's dining
The rest of us find it a trauma!

Debbie E. MacMichael

Dishwashes Endlessly (at) Mealtime

When Secha was able to reach
Our Deb, she came into the breach
To help in the kitchen
But bet she is itchin'
To finally relax on the beach.

Sue C. Starks

Stirs Cauldrons Stunningly

In the kitchen Sue shows great aplomb
In a crises she tends to stay calm
Though kids here in the camp'll
Try hard to trample her
She relies on the 23rd Psalm.

Ruthie J. Stone

Really Joyful Style

Through the morning she cuts, fries, or bakes
And we all love the things that she makes
But when campers come in Ruthie's troubles begin
As their questions just give her the shakes.

Julie M. Copeland

Just (a) Marvelous Chef

The Queen of the kitchen is Julie
She likes us if we're not unruly-
She chops and she fries
Makes Boston Cream Pies
In a crisis she tries to act cooly.

Debbie A. McCaughey

Does Assist (with) Meals

Debbie McCaughey was here
In the kitchen for most of the year
Though she left us, it's true
Still holding her stew
She'll never forget us we fear.

Betsy Eckert

Bails Endlessly

Betsy E. is a girl we recall
As a fine, funny friend to us all
At sailing a pro
And though she did go
We'll remember her fondly this fall.

Jamie Auns

Just Awsome

This canine is yellow and furry
On schedule through camp he does scurry.
He's always around,
To clean up the ground,
At picnics we say, Jamie, hurry!

Vilis Auns

Very Accommodating

While up in the attic one night
Getting set for his airplane flight
He left via the floor
'Stead of using the door
A move that proved not awfully bright.

Barbara Hedel

Brings Happiness

Barbara has proven her mettle-
She managed to stay in fine fettle
Through dozens of "T's"
Kept them sewing with ease
Though most kids don't know bobbin from pedal.

Eric W. Cobb

Energizes Whitewater Canoeing

On his new ten speed bike he did ride
Down to camp with such nonchalant pride
Threw his mother a quip
Before doing a flip Ending up with a gash on his hide.
